Dear Mr. Newman:

Thanks very much for sending the Audubon material, which was most interesting.

I will keep your information in mind if I ever write about Audubon again.

The Manchac book I mentioned is Winding Through Time: The Forgotten History and Present-Day Peril of Bayou Manchac by Mary Ann Sternberg. It was published by LSU Press. Your neighborhood bookstore can order it for you.

I am afraid that I have very little influence in shaping what The Wall Street Journal writes about. I do freelance work for them occasionally, but I am not on staff there.

But I will pass your stuff along.

My best wishes for the new year, and thanks for writing.

Danny Heitman
